THE FOUNDRESS

"I chose the name CAMELEON because it carries the meaning of our mission: like the CAMELEON which changes color to adapt to its environment, we help children to transform themselves physically and morally, from exclusion to better future."

LAURENCE LIGIER

In 1997, after spending several years in the Philippines studying the status of vulnerable children, Laurence Ligier, French National, founded Cameleon Association in Iloilo province. Her ambition was to rescue and rehabilitate the most vulnerable girls of the region. In partnership with the city of Passi, she opened the first center to accommodate girls who are victims of child abuse. Settled in France since 2004, she continues to fight for CAMELEON Philippines by developing network of supporters all around the world and to input her vision in the programs. Laurence Ligier has received the Philippines Presidential Award for her contribution to the development of the Philippines as well as the French National Order of Merit.

OUR ACTIONS

Shares in the Philippines are divided into several sectors, Rehabilitation - Personal Reconstruction (1), Rehabilitation - Reinsertion and Autonomy (2), Education and Development (3), Advocacy and Prevention (4), Health (5), Sports and Circus (6).

The actions in France consist of making it possible for those in the Philippines to provide financial expertise, to seek partnerships, to train volunteers, to prevent and to educate schools about the rights of the child.

Two poles form the activities of CAMELEON: the fight against sexual violence and helping the underprivileged children.

THE BOARD

The Board consists of 10 committed trustees from several sectors of the civil society:

Jose Cochingyan, Bernard Poplimont, Christopher Montaña, Laurence Ligier, Ricardo F. Andrada, Maria Visitacion O. Genson, Ida M. Siason, Ann T.Saldana, Sandra Cacho and Daniel Johannot.

THE STAFF

There are 31 committed professionals accomplishing CAMELEON's program everyday .

PERSPECTIVES 2018

Turnover of the executive director position from Sabine Claudio to Heide Foulc.

Construction of the third center in Silay City, Negros occidental.

Development of the national and international advocacy program.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

Sabine Claudio | Executive Director

20 years
of Love, Care, Education and Empowerment

Last 2017, we celebrated the 20th anniversary of CAMELEON. From the original idea in the mind of the Foundress, Laurence Ligier, CAMELEON became a beautiful "animal" along the years. In 1997, I was honored to attend the inauguration of the Passi center, as I was representing another NGO, Asmae-Association Soeur Emmanuelle who was the first one to accept to support this project carried by a very young lady. At that time, the objective was to put up a center for 25 girls.

CAMELEON went through many trials and errors, challenges, successes and failures but through all those life experiences became stronger and resilient just like the children we are helping now. That's what we celebrated last May 2017 in Passi and in Manila with our beneficiaries, friends, sponsors and partners. These were memorable moments of friendship, happiness, expression of gratitude and talents!

Today, CAMELEON is established as a credible and reliable NGO. Social workers from all over Iloilo, Guimaras, Capiz and Negros Occidental provinces are referring us their client's victim of rape and incest with trust and confidence. Since the beginning more than 270 girls have been rehabilitated and 960 poor but deserving students and their families availed from our educational and empowerment support in the surrounding communities of Passi, San Enrique and Bingawan.

Prevention has always been nested in our program and this year, after 20 years of promoting child's rights and fighting child abuse, our voice has been heard at the international level for the first time with a report that we produced and submitted to the United Nations about child sexual abuse. This report was presented and acclaimed by the representatives of 7 embassies in Manila and the UN bureau took some of our recommendations in their final report submitted to the Philippine government last May 2017.

But our biggest pride came from the Voice of CAMELEON Children (VCC) who were awarded as the grand winner of the Presidential TAYO award (Ten Accomplished youth Organization) last February 2017 for their action of promoting education in an Indigenous community in San Enrique. Congratulations for your commitment, efficiency and dedication. You are the living evidence of the success of CAMELEON!

RESIDENTIAL PROGRAM

The Residential Program provides temporary care and custody for sexually abused girl-survivors age 5-17 years old coming from rural and marginalized communities in Western Visayas. It ensures reintegration in their families and communities.

The young girls are referred to us by the Department of Social Welfare and Development (DSWD) and are then welcomed in two reception houses (each with a capacity of 25 persons), which provide a protective, healthy and balanced environment, allowing their personal reconstruction.

Medical access, healthcare, family atmosphere, life skills development, legal assistance, psychological support and follow-up, sports and other activities, schooling and education facilitation, protection and development and provision of basics needs are the services provided in the Residential Program.

- 53 girls were accommodated in the center
4 girls were early discharged due to uncooperative behavior and one girl decided to stay with her sister.
- May 2017: 15 new admissions
September 2017: 17 admissions
- 15 girls were reintegrated to their families and communities in May 2017.
- 48 parents attended the annual Parent's Effectiveness Seminar.

Education Assistance

Elementary: 21
High school: 28
College: 1

A 12 year-old girl, who was transferred in Special Education Class due to the mild retardation, can now write, identify colors, and distinguish the letters of the alphabet and numbers.

- 63% of the beneficiaries received a general average of 80%.
- All of 50 girls were promoted to next level grade in June 2017.

Legal Assistance

In almost the 50 in house girls, 34 were able to file a case against their perpetrator(s).

- 6 Lawyers volunteered to defend our girls.
- In October, 20 girls visited judge Contreras who oriented them on the legal procedures.

CASES:

- 14: on trial
- 19: pending
- 1: litigated (April, 2016)

Beneficiary's Testimony

I want to express my deepest gratitude to the people behind CAMELEON Association, because if it weren't for them, I would not have experienced what it is like to be in a decent residential setting where I was once deprived of, and because of it, I was able to express myself through circus. CAMELEON also taught me to stand on my own feet amidst the trials that come in my life, and I also experienced what it is to eat a balanced diet, three times a day. Being under the care of CAMELEON, I was able to experience that my needs are provided and being dropped and fetched from school by a service vehicle. CAMELEON helped me to finish my senior high school. I give my sincerest gratitude to the staff and the people behind it. All of the misfortunate events that happened in my life were replaced with the most positive ones.

AFTERCARE PROGRAM

The post-rehabilitation or Aftercare Program is a follow-up service to enable girls to be fully reintegrated into the society.

There are 61 girls between the ages of 9 and 24 in the Aftercare Program. After an average stay of 3 to 4 years in foster homes and when all danger has been ruled out, the girls are reintegrated into their family of origin. Social workers and psychologists decide on the placement of the young girls.

SERVICES PROVIDED

Educational support, appropriate placement, psychological services, skills development, capability trainings, legal support and health assistance are some of the services provided in the Aftercare Program.

Support continues until the end of the girls' studies and upon obtaining their first job. The aim is to prepare the girls for independent living.

- 5 girls were placed in foster families or guardians.
- 15 girls were accommodated in CAMELEON's Iloilo City dormitory.

SUMMARY OF 2017

61 girls were part of the aftercare program
 61 girls were enrolled in school while one is preparing for the dentistry board Exam.

6 of them stopped attending school resulting to their temporary suspension from the aftercare program for the following reasons:

- 3 girls got pregnant
- 2 girls remain to have poor school performance
- 1 girl decided to live with her boyfriend

This year, Aftercare girls helped 15 in-house girls who were candidates for the reintegration, in gaining the courage to face life outside the center.

PLACE OF RESIDENCE

28 girls placed or reunited with their biological parents
5 girls were placed in foster family/ guardians

LEGAL ADVANCEMENT OF GIRLS' CASES

13 girls with ongoing cases in court were assisted
1 girl accepted the out of court settlement
13 girls opted to not to file a case because their alleged perpetrator is also a member of their family.

SUPPORT TO PARENTS

For those who returned to their families, CAMELEON helped their parents understand their role better through seminars that discuss effective parenthood. It contributed in the elimination of conflicts and misunderstandings and has resulted in improved family relationships.

Beneficiary's Testimony

The impact of CAMELEON activities to me is being positive in life and being more responsible. I was inspired to continue my studies and was encouraged to be active in school. Through educating us, they gave us knowledge about the things like what we learned about causes and effects of Pre-marital Sex, and topics on AIDS and HIV. Also, I learned how to deal with professionals and to how to be confident for a job interview. In job seeking, we were taught proper etiquettes. I grew up in CAMELEON where I have respect for other people as well as to be God-fearing. With that, I exerted great effort to be a good role model to the other girls. I am hoping that I will graduate and find a job, then help also CAMELEON in as much as I could. I am very lucky and thankful that I became a part of the CAMELEON Family."

EMPOWERING PARENT LEADERS

57 parent leaders have attended the workshop and deepened their understanding about their roles and functions aligned to the program objectives and priorities.

PARENTS AS HEALTH VOLUNTEERS

This group of volunteers were trained and mobilized by CAMELEON to assist target families in accessing health services from the local government during cases of health emergencies and to conduct information dissemination.

BENEFICIARY'S TESTIMONY

I face a lot of challenges especially in managing 6 children of different ages, however, with the help of the topics we discussed during monthly meetings. It helped me understand the behavior of my children. I learned to listen considerately and know their problems to be able to guide them in coming up with solutions. I also learned to have more patience and started to refrain myself from being a nagger to them. It is no doubt, it enhanced and strengthened my relationship with my children in a way that it encouraged them to be more honest, more open and developed trust among us.

- Josephine Delotina, mother of 6 children

ORGANIZATION AND STRENGTHENING OF ALUMNI

Organization of the former sponsored children and their parents were facilitated to sustain their engagement to CAMELEON. They organized christmas to meet together and to plan for their future projects.

77% or 189 out of 244 graduates since 2012 are employed with either regular or contractual status of employment in government and privates agencies.

SPORTS AND CIRCUS

The sports and circus program contributes to the development of children and youth under the care of CAMELEON in the aspect of their physical, psychological and social well-being through the implementation of wide-range of capability building trainings and skills enhancement.

- Young People learn to channel their energy, develop team spirit and maintain a healthy relationship to their bodies
- Sport activities are varied : basketball, martial arts, volleyball, swimming, rugby, softball, dance and yoga
- Circus is used as therapy for young girls who have been sexually abused: there are 50 girls in the foster homes who have attended weekly classes. It allows them to overcome their traumas and to reclaim their bodies through physical work

CIRCUS TRAINING AND SHOWS

Circus girls performed shows inside and outside CAMELEON to raise awareness on the rights of the children.

CAPABILITY BUILDING TRAININGS

- Two professional circus artists based in Canada trained the girls every day for two months on balancing and acrobatics
- 12 girls spent 15 days in Circus Training in Cambodia. This training enhanced leadership, circus specializations and skills in theatre and stage management.
- 401 beneficiaries participated in the two-day camp in May with the support of 16 youth camp organizers who are alumni CAMELEON beneficiaries.

BENEFICIARY'S TESTIMONY

Every time I saw my fellow girls performing on stage, I realized that I can do more if I show my own skills and participate with them.

- Mary Ann

HEALTH PROGRAM

CAMELEON Health Program continuously contributes in ensuring the good health condition of its 410 beneficiaries through our direct and sustainable interventions.

This program focuses on the implementation of comprehensive health care services, and empowerment of beneficiaries through health education and advocacy campaigns. Scope of health services and implementation were facilitated by the Health Coordinator in coordination with the program staff, beneficiaries, and health care professionals and agencies.

96% or 394 out of our 410 direct beneficiaries are physically healthy, and these children have not experienced serious or recurrent health problems throughout the year.

4% or 16 out of 394 direct beneficiaries have suffered from health illnesses that required intensive treatment and prolonged medication. Majority of them are already experiencing those health problems prior to their admission in the program.

These identified children have suffered from the following health conditions: seizure disorder, sexually transmitted infections, and irregular menstruation due to polycystic ovarian cyst, eye cataract, rheumatic heart disease, hyperthyroidism, pulmonary tuberculosis and typhoid fever.

CAMELEON has provided support to the sponsored children in the community who have serious health illnesses in the form of financial or access to discounted/free medical services.

Health condition of 50 girls in the center was regularly monitored through the Quarterly Growth Monitoring conducted by Health Coordinator.

Currently, 94% of them have normal BMI (Body Mass Index) while the number of overweight children has decreased to 2 from 6 girls identified at the start of the year.

97% or 194 out of 200 sponsored children in the communities expressed that they feel healthy because they are not easily infected by common illnesses, they are physically active and energetic in doing activities both at school and home, and they have positive mindset and peace of mind.

CAMELEON has organized and trained a group of youth advocates called CAMELEON Youth Health Advocates (CYHA) as a peer educators. The group is trained in Forum Theater which they used during lectures to encourage active involvement of the participants.

Its 26 members gives lectures on sex education and promotes discussion on sexuality and teenage pregnancies.

All throughout the year, CYHA has conducted 16 lectures and symposia (community and school based) to 1,491 youth in different communities.

Beneficiary's Testimony

I get easily stressed and experience episodes of seizure when I don't take medicines prescribed by the specialist for my seizure problem. Because of the medical support by CAMELEON, I was able to maintain my good physical condition and continue my studies until I graduate in the next school year.

Eleaflor Apig

NATIVE CHICKEN PRODUCTION:

A total of 34 families have benefited from our Native Chicken project. 10 families were added to the group of parents producing native chicken at home.

Beneficiary's Testimony

Marites is a mother of seven (7) children. Since her husband neglected his responsibilities, she took over his duties and developed herself just to find a stable source of income for her family. She started by doing home service on her manicure and pedicure. She knew that it could not sustain their needs, but at least, it could help. It was her way also to show to her husband that she could work hard in order to feed her children. Later on, her husband realized the value of their family and began to change. As of now, Marites is with her husband. She has established their business of producing and selling native delicacies such as puto, kutsinta and petche-petche. She received a bigger type of steamer from CAMELEON. she accepted more orders that reached approximately 10-40 orders specifically when there is an occasion. According to her, it has been a great help to receive a steamer and sealer as her primary materials in cooking and packaging her products. Aside from native delicacies, she is also presently producing salted and sweetened peanuts which she delivers everyday on the neighboring sari-sari stores. Her daily income reaches a maximum of One Thousand Pesos (Php1, 000). On the other hand, her income can reach to Five Thousand Pesos(Php5, 000) whenever there is bigger bulk of orders.

ADVOCACY PROGRAM

The advocacy program of CAMELEON aims to raise awareness among communities about child abuse, but also to train stakeholders and policy makers on child abuse prevention and treatment.

2 500 students were reached from 42 municipalities of Iloilo province (Three years of partnership) with the Department of Education Division of Iloilo province

7,415 STUDENTS

7 415 students have been given lecture on UNCR trained student leaders are likely to echo the information with their fellow students through their organizations like student councils and school paper

507 COMMUNITY LEADERS

507 community leaders : This group is composed of adults who are the frontline service providers: barangay officials, health workers and women leaders.

3,593 PARENTS

3 593 parents are aware of Children's rights through advocacy and lectures and parents teachers association

795 TEACHERS

795 teachers were aware of child's rights trough in service trainings, lectures, workshops

On February 2017, the VCC was recognized as 1st National Winner in the Search for Ten Accomplished Youth Organizations (TAYO) in the Philippines organized by the National Youth Commission. Because of their initiatives for the girls in the center and in the Aeta Community in San Enrique, they were commended for their outstanding deeds.

15 entries were received for the adult category and 7 entries from the children and youth category. Entries received were from Iloilo City, Iloilo province, and Capiz province.

Connections to politicians in charge of laws relevant to children's welfare were established. This enabled us to keep lobbying for child rights to the senate, the congress and embassies.

RESOURCE MOBILIZATION

Mobilizing local partners from different sector (public, private, individual or corporation) has been persistently and continually conducted to increase CAMELEON'S sustainability and independence towards European fundings.

This year, CAMELEON received the following:

Strengthened partnership with Philippine Airlines, San Miguel Foundation, Metrobank, Banco de Oro and Global Voice.

The amount of donation in kind and in discounted or free services related to computers has reached Php 1, 236, 631 this year.

There are publications and media exposures made especially during the celebration of our 20th anniversary for both Iloilo and Manila circus shows.

VOLUNTEERS

In April, Julien left for the second time on the field to teach the girls how to play rugby in the most gentle way possible. Both a godfather and a volunteer, he tells us, "The rules were adapted to the level of the girls."

"I had the privilege to initiate a kind of rugby where each participant had a belt at the waist with two scarves and the opponent's goal is to stop the player through tearing off the scarf. This made it possible to have no direct contact and thus reduce the risk of injury and to be able to involve the smallest and largest girls. The girls of the association completely adhered to the practice of rugby and took a lot of fun to play while respecting the rules, which implies discipline and rigor."

François (Circus Performer) tells us: "During my mission and my stay at the center, I had a lot of fun playing with the girls. I loved life in the center. I got on well with the band and we had good times together! I learned a lot about myself, I am very happy to have had this experience. I look at my problems differently. I feel that I have matured and that it is good! "

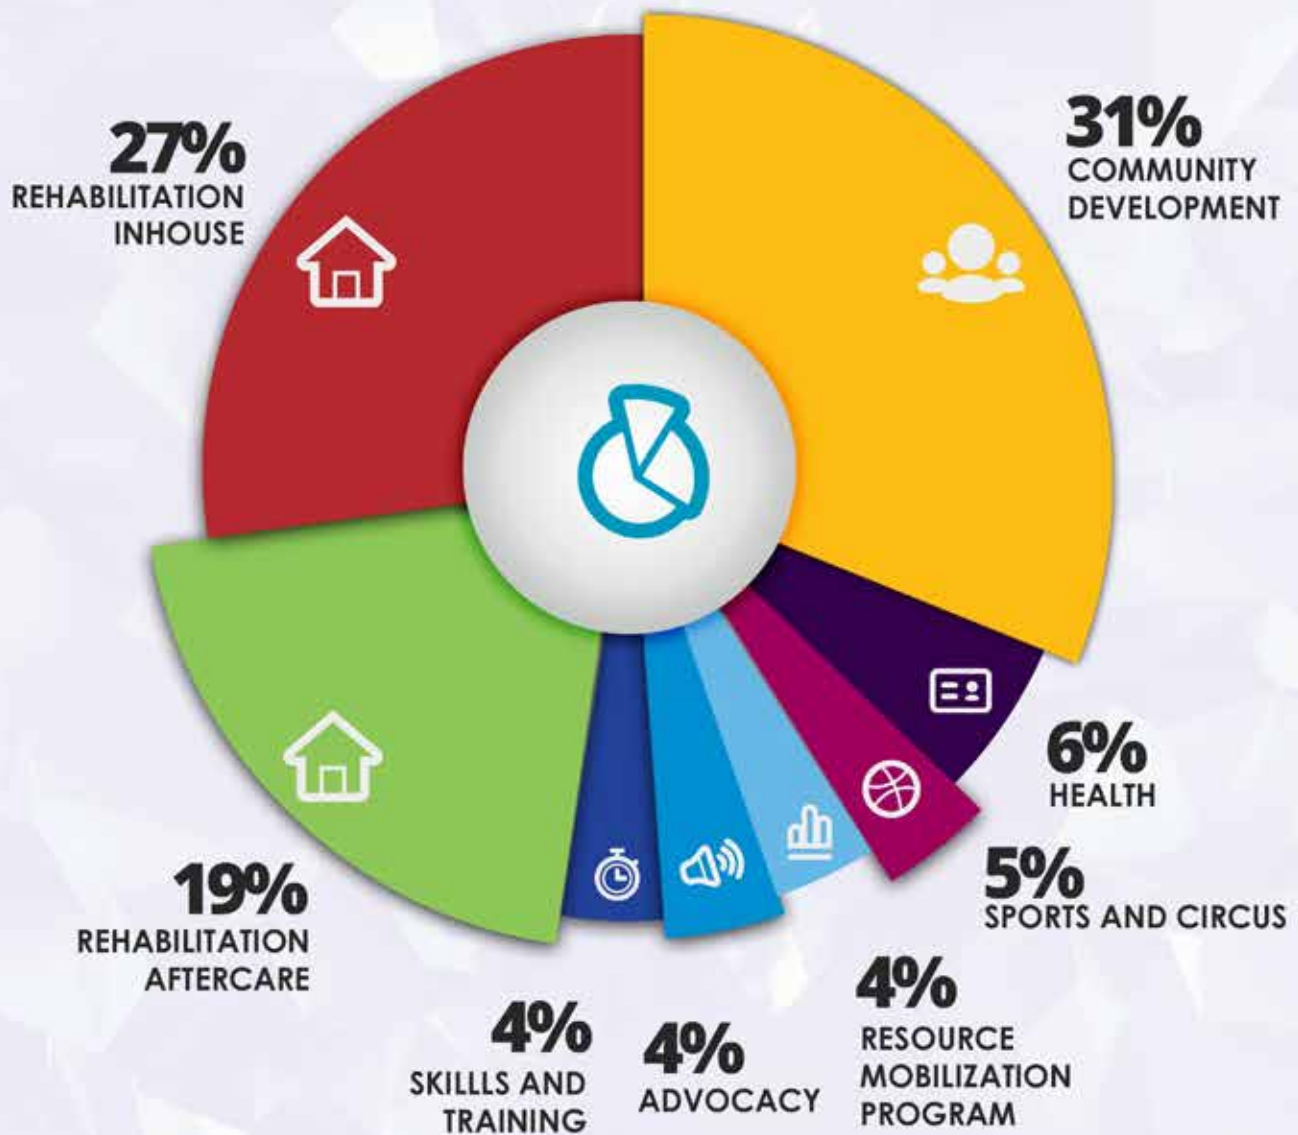

I came to help in preparing CAMELEON's annual report and in the 20th anniversary celebration. What I liked most about my adventure in the Philippines is simply my daily life in the center. Sharing good times at the office with the Filipino staff, on one hand, and also playing with the girls when they return from school, or organizing with the other volunteers' activities like poetry, dancing or cooking were all memorable and meaningful to me.

The simplest moments were the best: being with them while they cooked and asking them to teach me the recipe of the adobo chicken, while learning some Tagalog words. I do not remember any negative point of this experience, I enjoyed every moment and I learned a lot from all the meetings I had, whether with the staff, the parents and children beneficiaries of the communities, the girls of the center, the other volunteers or even the sponsors who were there. It was an experience of sharing and of confronting a reality completely different from mine. This allowed me to confirm my aspiration to work for humanitarian and international solidarity. When I see how much Cameleon has allowed so many people to change their destiny towards a more just and happy future, I can only feel like following their path!
